BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1939.

'SNOW CARNIVAL' THEME OF BAY SAINT LOUIS ANNUAL CARNIVAL BALL

Mr. D. M. Russell, Jr., and Miss Jane Juden Reign as King and Queen—Stage Setting Scintillating With Arctic Scene—Crowds View and Enjoy Social Function of Gay Season—Reception Follows.

Polar stars never scintillated with more resplendency in arctic regions than on the scene admirably depicted on the stage and in the wide spaces of St. Joseph Memorial Hall, Bay St. Louis, on the occasion of the presentation of the sixth annual Carnival court and ball, Friday evening, February 17, 1939.

When the curtain rose with the ease and grace as if motivated by some mystic power, precisely at 8 o'clock, here was a scene of ineffable memory. Banked high, in the brilliancy of its own immaculate color, sparkling under spot lights, revealing every corner, here was a breath-taking scene. Snow high on all sides; in the center a huge figure of a snow man, with typical hat and pipe.

Adding to the realism of the scene a constant flurry of snow fell from overhead. Seated high on either side, as if in sleds, on an angle of 45 degrees, were a bevy of charming children, clad in snow-white, winter-like garb of white satin trimmed with ermine-like fur.

Children were Betty Jane Vassalli, Gaynell Gex, Hartwell Gex, Jeanne Arceneaux, Sylvia Horton, Nanette Arceneaux, Shirley Shear, Jeff Favre, Bruce Favre, "Sonny" Wolfe, Beverly Favre, Margaret Boh, Rita Boh, Kay Ford.

Occupying a sled below, positioned on the floor of the hall, ready to precede the triumphal march of king and queen and members of the court, were Sylvia Horton and Bruce Favre. The sled was drawn by Hartwell Gex and "Sonny" Wolfe.

In midst of this tableau scene, Mr. D. M. Russell, Jr., awaited the appearance of the queen, Miss Jane Juden.

The body of the snow man was spacious and admitted the queen from the hidden side. The front of the "snow man" was in two parts, door-like, which later opened and here the queen was revealed in all her loveliness and unforgettable beauty as she stepped out in a blaze of brilliancy and a burst of enthusiastic applause. It was a picture that will ever remain indelible in the minds of the many who had come to pay homage to the king and queen of 1939. A tribute worthily bestowed.

Topping the back of the stage in electric illumination were represented the Northern lights. This back ground completed the scene.

Miss Juden, the queen, was attired in a flowing gown of French Silk tulle, white. Her long mantle was of white plush velvet, rich with sequins of gold and silver. She wore a necklace of brilliants and crowning her lovely hair a coronet of precious stones. She carried a bouquet of talisman roses and orchids.

Her appearance was queenly, regal in the fullest meaning of the word, combined with her pleasing and engaging personality that endeared her all the more to the many who gave her repeated and unstinted applause.

The king was quite handsome in the regulation full evening dress, and wore a ribbon of distinction across the shirt bosom.

In keeping with the color scheme of the ice carnival, maids wore the softest and fluffiest of white, even-gown with low cut. They carried white maribou muffs, covered in part with spray of natural flowers. These were unique and fetching and were prepared and given by Mrs. A. G. Favre, who was one of the ardent and successful workers for the enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gordon contributed appreciably of their artistic taste and work to the decoration and building of the scenes and effects. The Mississippi Power Company gave the use of the spot lights and other paraphernalia for the various lighting effect, in white and color, through the instrumentality of Mr. G. A. Schmidt, of the Avalon Theater at Pass Christian.

Personnel of the court and attending committees follow:
Maids and Dukes
Miss Jennie Di Benedetto and Mr. Grayson Keaton.
Miss Minnie Otis and Mr. Leo Blaize.
Mrs. Alden Maufrey and Mr. J. Roland Weston.
Miss Mary Claire Zimmerman and Mr. Kenneth W. Peppereine.
Miss Clara Reed and Mr. Ogden Kergosien.
Miss Marion Ortte and Mr. Robert L. Camors.
Mrs. Arthur Morton and Mr. Arthur Morton.
Miss Loretta Smith and Mr. Alden Maufrey.
Miss Adelaide Heitzman and Mr. August Flashpolder.
Mrs. Ed J. Arceneaux and Mr. Emilio Cue.
Mrs. A. B. Vassalli and Mr. Ed J. Arceneaux.

GARDENS TO GREET VISITORS

In Addition to Visit at the Pirate House, Local Gardens Will Interest
Pageant Visitors

Public and wide-spread interest accelerates as the dates for Mississippi Gulf Coast Historical Pageant, March 17, 18 and 19 approaches.

It is interesting to note the activity that characterizes every moment in planning, arranging and getting everything in readiness for the coast event, especially for the Bay St. Louis-Waveland features.

Visit and breakfast at Mrs. E. G. Singreen's Waveland beach home, the Pirate House, carries much detail all of which according to reports from committees are working out to a marked nicety.

The visit to Mr. and Mrs. George E. Pitcher's gardens is high spots of the entire coast entertainment. There is a unified action on the part of our citizens that bespeaks success. Never was such unanimity of interest and willingness to do manifested. It is this expressed interest that is promising and insures success of the big project—possibly the biggest advertisement this section has ever received. There is reason to believe, and it is announced that thousands of visitors will visit this section daily for the three-day period.

Mayor Blaize and the city fathers are asking residents to clean-up and to further beautify their premises.

Miss Luverne Temple and Mr. Al Voight.
Miss Marjorie Seuzeneau and Mr. Joseph Di Benedetto, Jr.
Miss Juanita Johnston and Mr. C. J. Gordon.
Miss Abbie Bourgeois and Mr. M. A. Phillips.
Miss Mildred Wheat and Mr. Harold B. Weston.
Miss Marie E. Bertrand and Mr. Chas. G. Moreau.
Miss Ann Ciolinger and Mr. Chas. E. Kergosien.

Mr. George R. Rea was executive chairman of the ball and court. Mr. Edouard C. Carriere was chairman of arrangements for the court.

Court and Floor Committee.
Mr. Al G. Shear, Leo W. Seal, Mr. Sam Benigno, Jr., Dr. B. L. Ramsey, George E. Pitcher, Wm. A. Staehle, Edouard C. Carriere, Jr., Mr. Chas. A. Breath, Sr.

Decorations exceeded any previous attempts. The theme, an ice carnival, was elaborately carried out to the very letter, the stage and vast auditorium in corresponding beauty and matter of detail. This fine and effective result was the origination and planned work of Mrs. Marie Louise Juden, whose originality and clever taste are well known. Her assisting workers are whom she gives great credit, Mr. George F. Stevenson and Mr. George Di Benedetto. The latter electricians who worked to advantage to their particular line. Mr. Farr did much of the construction work and Mr. Witter, local artist-painter, with Mrs. Juden carried out the artistic effects. The entire effect and paraphernalia was built from the ground up—nothing heretofore in use was employed. It was all new and created for the ice carnival. Mrs. Juden as chairman of the decoration committee, was given free hand.

Ticket Committee.
Over 500 tickets were sold on the outside, the greatest number ever sold before the doors opened for any entertainment project given locally.

Under the leadership of Mr. Walter J. Gex, chairman, and Ed Arceneaux, the committee included Mr. Al G. Shear, Mr. Robert L. Camors, Mrs. A. B. Vassalli, Mrs. Ed Ortte, and Mrs. A. P. Smith, Mrs. Edmund F. Favre, Mr. A. G. Favre, Mr. Edouard C. Carriere. It was the greatest ticket selling campaign ever staged.

It is conservatively estimated that over 750 people attended the ball. Pass Christian and Gulfport send over large delegations.

St. Stanislaus Band, Bro. Romuald, director, played for the triumphal march of the court. Band members were located in an overhead balcony and their music was not only of excellent quality but of that measure.

THEIR MAJESTIES, KING AND QUEEN BAY CITY CARNIVAL

MR. D. M. RUSSELL, JR., AND MISS JANE JUDEN, King and Queen of Bay St. Louis Carnival Ball.

ENTERTAIN AT KILN AUDITORIUM FRIDAY, MARCH 3.

State Extension Department Offers Film Feature to 4-H Club Members and Public.

Miss Louise Peters, Hancock county home demonstration agent, announces that on Friday, March 3, 1939, at 7:30 p. m., in the Kiln auditorium, the state extension department is offering to the citizens of Hancock county a free picture show based on 4-H club work. The 4-H club girls and boys will have charge of the first part of the program by singing club songs and Mr. W. D. Howell, extension sound truck operator, will then take charge and run the selected films. Mr. Q. McCornick, superintendent Kiln school, modates 300 or more, so everyone interested in 4-H club work is invited to come.

Miss Mary E. Doney, food preservation specialist, gave a very good demonstration on the canning of meats, Friday, February 17. Six ladies were present. Lakeshore had the largest representation with Miss Velma Zingaling and Mrs. May Du-buisson present. Miss Peters is awarding a prize to the club having the largest number of leaders present at the first six leaders training meetings. The home agent assisted by the leaders are going to each club, this week giving the same demonstration so that all the ladies in the various communities in the county will get the same instructions and helpful hints about meat canning.

Date of Hospital Shower Postponed.
Postponement of date for hospital shower, scheduled for the 24th, is announced by the management, and by Mrs. Emily Lacoste, chairman committee.

While the date is postponed to an indefinite date it was announced the shower would be given at the same time. The dedication would take place of the new addition to the building—the nursery for newly-born babies. Both the dedication and shower are events and it was decided to hold both at the date and at the same time. Date will be announced when the nursery will have been finished and in practical use.

Famous Magazine and Scenario Author Visits Bay St. Louis Section.

Prominent among the many guests within our gates the past week or two was Miss Louise Chandler, registered at Hotel Reed, while visiting New Orleans to and fro, attending the Carnival.

Miss Chandler is a scenario writer for Metro-Goldwyn Company, and has a serial story for Scribner's Magazine in press, the title, "Between the Rivers." She has completed "So Fettered East Are We." Her scenarios are many and outstanding, including Marie Antoinette, Test Pilot, the Hardy Family Series, etc.

She left here Wednesday morning on S. S. Rotterdam from New Orleans, ultimately bound for South America where she will collect material for a book on the Indian tribes and lore of that country.

Her praise of Bay St. Louis and the Hotel Reed was to the effect she plans to return at some other time, when she may be able to remain longer.

Carnival at New Orleans.

Our neighbors over in the Crescent City presented a most successful season of Carnival entertainment, and number of visitors is reported to have exceeded that of former years. It was in keeping with New Orleans' way of doing things.

With Momus, Hermes, Nor, Proteus, Rex and Comus as major pageants there were other parades, all contributing to one of the most colorful and spectacular carnivals.

In addition to these events, there were 39 major carnival balls, the like of which are never successfully duplicated elsewhere, even though attempted. Only New Orleans can enter the traditional spirit and nowhere else the same atmosphere pervades.

New Orleans, with its Canal street decoration, including hundreds of artificial palm trees, lending a tropical appearance, its teeming thousands of visitors presented a fitting setting. And on midnight Tuesday, the festival season, with its make-believe royalty, its extravaganzas of gaiety, its visit of kaleidoscope color and thousand and one things that enchanted, came to a close in a burst of glory. Congratulations to New Orleans and its men and women who made this Carnival particularly successful.

BEAUTIFICATION PLEA BAY-WAVELAND FOR COAST PAGEANT WEEK

Other Cities Are Busy in and Making Great Strides in Preparing for Coast's Greatest Advertising Projects—
Beautify is Urged.

PIONEER OF KILN PASSES ON

William Joseph Curet, Native of Kiln, Aged 73,
Died Friday Morning.

William Joseph Curet, well known over the county and a pioneer of Kiln, Hancock county, died at Ne-caise Crossing—the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Lader, Friday morning, February 17, 1939, at 2:40 a. m. He was a native of Kiln, aged 73 years. He was a son of Eugene Curet, native of Newburg, France, and of Mrs. Margaret Rudolph Curet, native of Landau, Germany, and was the husband of Atonee Kergosien, who died October 5, 1933.

Mr. Curet was surrounded during his life by a large and devoted family, and survived by the following children: Mrs. J. Q. Landrum, Poycune; Mrs. Beatrice Lader, Ne-caise Crossing; Mrs. Bernadine Favre, Kiln; Mrs. Mable Williams, Kiln; Bernice Curet, Richard Curet, Clarence Curet, Mrs. Elsie Helmer and Mrs. Gertrude Fleming, all of New Orleans; Mrs. Agnes Aeter, Tepe, Ariz., one brother, Joseph Curet, Kiln, Miss.

Funeral took place Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, with services at the Church of the Annunciation, at Kiln, the Rev. Father Denis officiating, with interment at the cemetery on the banks of peaceful and beautiful Rotten Bayou, beside the grave of his wife and near that of his father's and mother's resting place. This ceremony was largely attended by relatives and friends from over the county, many from Bay St. Louis present at the last rites. Many beautiful flowers marked the last resting place.

Pall bearers were: Eugene Curet, Harvey Curet, Fabien Curet, Fred Helmer, Bud Jennings, Herman Herrington, J. B. Womack, Horace L. Kergosien.

Funeral was from McDonald Funeral Home at Poycune, in charge of all arrangements.

Mr. Curet was well known in Bay St. Louis as well as over the entire section of this part of the State. His passing is deeply regretted. It removes from our midst one who had long lived a useful and honorable life, exemplary in the fullest sense; a citizen of value and a friend in the truest sense. His place will be hard to fill.

To Change Interior Lighting Bay St. Louis Post Office Lobby.

Lighting arrangement of the lobby of the Bay St. Louis postoffice building is to be entirely changed, with new fixtures planned to give better illumination.

Extensive blue prints for this work are in the hands of Post Master Leo G. Ford who has received word from Washington to the effect the change will be made at once, bids for the work to be solicited.

It is planned not only to give more light to the public but to change the fixtures and arrangement. The Department wants the building well lighted at night. The arrangement also calls for an arrangement that will throw better light and with more effect on the mural painting in order to bring out the color shades and light as the artist intended.

The postoffice is numerous frequented by night and we for one will welcome more and better lighting.

BAY HIGH TEAMS RECEIVE NEW SUITS

The Bay High girls and boys basketball team received new uniforms and are expected to appear in them at the Class-A tournament. The girls uniforms are made on a similar pattern to their old suits and are of bright gold skinner satin trimmed with royal blue. The material was purchased in New York through Charles A. Breath, Jr. Twelve girls are expected to dress out in these new suits which excel all uniforms previously purchased by Bay High.

The boys uniforms are all gold with a skirt of rayon with B-A-Y H-I written across the back. The pants are skinner satin with a small stripe running up both legs. Ten uniforms were ordered for the boys.

The time is drawing near for Gulf Coast Pageant Week, March 17, 18 and 19. What are you doing to clean up and beautify your premises for this all-coast gala occasion? Each day one sees work going on around us to make our town more beautiful.

Gulfport is carrying out their big clean-up campaign with a vim. It is the one town on the coast most noted for its beautiful flowers in parkways along its streets. Seldom can one visit Gulfport and not find flowers of the season in colorful array.

Long Beach appears to be just about ready for company. Residents there have made great strides in their preparations. And the beach front is being greatly improved already, one observes as they drive along.

Pass Christian, Biloxi, and Ocean Springs are not far behind.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland must keep up with the others. The City and county have promised to do their part in cleaning up the streets and vacant lots, and to put the town in order generally. What are you doing Mr. and Mrs. Citizen to add your share to this coming out party? No home is too small or lowly to join in this campaign for further beautification of our city. We want every one to participate in this general spring program for the strangers and friends who visit our city in March. We want it not only just for these few days, but for the days to come.

Let us join in presenting the most attractive, the most beautiful kept gardens, large or small to the travelers. Make ours the shore line to be remembered among the shorelines of the Seven Cities by the Sea. Small annuals planted now will make a display in time for Gulf Coast Pageant Week. Petunia plants and Nasturtiums planted now are perhaps the best flowers to give results at this late date.

This is probably our last cold snap. So get to work, one and all. Clean up and beautify! For what? Gulf Coast Pageant Week—of course!

ESTIMABLE RESIDENT PASSES ON

Peter Julius Muller, Ardent Booster for Bay St. Louis,
Dies of Heart Attack.

Peter Julius Muller, aged 61 years and 11 months, passed away unexpectedly at his residence, corner Hancock and Citizen streets, Monday morning, February 20, 1939, at 12:10 o'clock. He had not been feeling well for some time but the end was not expected.

The remains were taken in charge by the Fahey Funeral Home firm and taken to New Orleans by hearse to the Ranson & Sons Funeral Home, Elysian Fields, street, New Orleans, from which place funeral took place Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, with interment in St. John's cemetery, Canal street.

Deceased was a member of Louisiana M. A. F. I. Society also Masons Lodge, No. 429, Bay St. Louis. Funeral was largely attended, attesting to the high esteem in which Mr. Muller was held. He was well and widely known, both in this city and New Orleans.

He made his home in Bay St. Louis, the place he was so fond of, and an ardent and consistent booster, and commuted daily to his office in the big city. Mr. Muller was thoroughly imbued with this section and proved this by building a substantial home and residing here the year round.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Beulah Brown. He was the brother of Mrs. Dora Raabe, Thomas W. Muller and August R. Muller. Mr. Thomas W. Muller residing at 402 Ulman avenue, Bay St. Louis.

In the passing of Mr. Muller Bay St. Louis has sustained a substantial loss. He was a typical citizen and always affiliated with every interest for local betterment. His death is deeply regretted.

HOSPITAL NOTES OF THE WEEK.

Mr. Mose Lader of Pass Christian Route 1, is a patient.

Mrs. Leonard Ryan will be able to leave in a few days.

Miss Eula McWilliams is a very sick patient.

Mr. Fred Bourgeois was treated at the hospital for a cut hand which he sustained while cutting wood.

NAZI BLACKMAIL.

THERE may be people in the world who condone the vicious treatment of the Jews in Germany, but the callous way in which the German Government uses the future welfare of these persecuted people to further national ends abroad strikes us as being as utterly defenseless as the cruel anti-Jewish decrees.

Quite frankly, for some time, we have suspected that the motive behind the policy of the German Government was little short of the gangster. In brief, the Government got what it wanted when it confiscated the properties of the Jews. Now that the reaction in the world has caused a swift and catastrophic decline of Germany's export trade, the Nazi regime offers "some relaxation" of its decrees.

If the anti-Jewish policy was right or just in its beginnings, or necessary in the internal policies of Hitler-land, the same forces should make it continue. The "relaxation" offered displays an easily discernible motive to accumulate foreign exchange and does not deserve the respect of mankind.

As the internal economic condition of Germany stands today, exports are necessary to support military expenditures. As Hitler himself puts it, it is a question of "export or die." Therefore, in order to accumulate the foreign exchange needed to build guns and airplanes, the Nazi Government offers to temper its brutality if the world will buy German goods. Bluntly, the Nazi Government has pointed the pistol of brutality at the heads of Jewish men, women and children, but will not pull the trigger if the people of the world will buy German products.

This is blackmail, brutal, barbarous and uncivilized. It is not even thinly disguised.

YOUNG ACTOR MAY BECOME AMERICAN.

INTELLIGENCE from Hollywood is to the effect Freddie Bartholomew, English born child star of American films, may soon become an American.

Miss Mylicent Bartholomew, his aunt and legal guardian, said she plans to apply at once for her citizenship papers. Freddie, 14, automatically would become a citizen with her naturalization.

Freddie is a fine boy and excellent actor. Splendid character and of noted artistry. He will make a good citizen and we welcome more of his kind. America wants citizens of quality.

CHAIN STORE TAX HELD INVALID.

PENNSYLVANIA'S chain-store tax, imposing a levy of $1 to $500 based on the number of establishments under one ownership, was declared unconstitutional by the Dauphin county court.

The tax, which included theaters and gasoline stations was called "confiscatory" and a violation of the uniform taxation clause of the state constitution.

The court granted a permanent injunction against enforcement.

The state argued that the United States Supreme court has upheld similar laws in Indiana, Florida, Louisiana and West Virginia.

HERE'S A NOTE OF PROSPERITY.

MORE Pullman cars operated is an interesting headline appearing in the daily press this week. The Association of American railroads report that class 1 railroads and the Pullman Company have 10,977 air-conditioned passenger cars in operation, an increase of 652 over Jan. 1, 1938.

When better and faster trains are operated more patronage will follow. The public wants comfort and speed combined and are willing to pay.

BOSTON'S RECORD.

THE City of Boston, Mass., apparently deserves congratulations.

Citizens there subscribed $4,459,742 to the community fund, and this is described as "the largest amount ever raised by any community fund in the United States."

It is somewhat surprising, perhaps, in view of the large expenditures for relief by governmental agencies, that such a huge sum is considered necessary for welfare work in Boston and surrounding communities. Nevertheless, the people of that city have apparently established a record in a good cause.

BOND ISSUE HELD VALID.

Validation of a $350,000 issuance of notes in Harrison county was upheld by the Mississippi State Supreme Court Monday in a case brought up on appeal by E. C. Tonsmeire and others against the board of supervisors.

"We can find no error in the action of the court below in validating these bonds," the supreme court held. "The statute authorizing the issuance of the notes has been followed by the board of supervisors."

PROGRESSIVE BILOXI BEAT.

BEAT One of Harrison county, including the city of Biloxi, voted on a $100,000 bond issue for construction of an inner harbor. The opposition was negligible and the proposed issue carried handsomely. This is one of Biloxi's secrets of its growth and continued expansion.

WASHINGTON A HUMAN BEING.

THE birthday of George Washington, first President of the United States, brings forth the usual oratorical flourishes and the annual flood of praise that it is so fulsome as to cause nausea.

The Sea Coast Echo yields to no one in its admiration of the virtues and ability of our Revolutionary leader whose greatness is indelibly stamped upon the history of this country. His leadership in war and in peace and his general accomplishments establish him as one of the giants of his day.

George Washington, the man, becomes somewhat lost in the barrage of adjectives laid down by present-day speakers, who attempt to identify themselves or their ideas, with the great Virginian. Let us not lose sight of the fact that George Washington was a human being, with some of the frailties that inevitably belong to man. Accepted in this light, his life becomes more understandable and his virtues shine more brightly.

Our first President was not a prophet, able to foresee the uncertain course of centuries, nor was he possessed of an omniscient mind, capable of solving the world's problems hundreds of years after his death. Consequently, it is hardly fair for citizens today to attempt to bolster their views by telling us what Washington would do if he were alive today or by attempting to solve existing problems by hunting quotations from his addresses, delivered in the Eighteenth Century.

We much prefer to look upon the first President of this republic as a man who faced great responsibility, accepted his obligations and performed his duty in an exemplary fashion. His record and his services are impressive without imputing imaginary and supernatural virtues.

SPORTS WRITERS MISSISSIPPI PRESS

SPORTS writers from Mississippi daily press have united in organization.

At Jackson eleven newspaper men from eight Mississippi daily newspapers met and organized a big eight conference writers' association.

Paul Tibbler, the Clarion-Ledger, was elected president; Charlie Kerg, Greenville Delta-Democrat Times, vice president for North Mississippi; Clinton C. Blackwell, Biloxi-Gulfport Herald vice president for South Mississippi; and Carl Waters, Meridian Star, executive secretary.

Paul Tibbler, president, is well known locally. Before going to the Clarion-Ledger at Jackson, he was sports editor for the Gulfport-Biloxi Herald.

MISSIONS TO SOUTH AMERICA.

Continuing its policy of friendly assistance to the Latin-American republics, the United States will soon have twenty-nine officers assigned to duty in the countries of this hemisphere.

The American officers will assist the republics in formulating their military programs. They will offset the efforts of European nations thru military missions.

In addition, these American officers will become familiar with conditions that exist in the nations of the Western Hemisphere. The knowledge gained will be valuable to the United States. The friendships that they make will also serve this country well.

In addition, the Navy has a mission in Brazil and, possibly, some other countries. Moreover, some of our newest and finest cruisers have been designated to make courtesy visits to the principal port of South America.

TREE INSURANCE.

MR. Bob Graham, Chancery Clerk, of Covington County, has taken out one-hundred and sixty acres of insurance on his son, who is now eight years old. Mr. Graham recently bought 160 acres of tax delinquent land, and looking into the future, says Mr. Graham, "the young pine which I am setting out on this land will accrue interest at a fast rate, and by the time my son is thirty years of age he will reap a rich reward from this green gold deposit." Mr. Graham purchased seedlings to plant most of his 160 acres from the Mississippi Forest Service Nursery, after conferring with Mr. Richard C. Allen, nursery man, about the financial possibilities and methods of planting. Others in the state should follow, Mr. Graham, and invest in this kind of insurance.

SYNDICATED PUBLICITY.

AMONG most outstanding recent publicity achievements of the Mississippi Advertising Commission, aside from the publicity campaign conducted in conjunction with the winter resort program, has been the syndication thru the Associated Press of an illustrated feature story treating the operation and accomplishments of the sweet potato starch plant at Laurel. Photographs for this story were taken by Commission photographers and material for the feature editor of the Associated Press was compiled by the Commission staff.

In connection with the current winter resort campaign the Mississippi Advertising Commission made arrangements for the exhibition of a short movie reel on the Natchez Pilgrimages at the winter travel show in Detroit sponsored by the Detroit News.

LEASE COAST WATERS.

THE Federal Royalties Company, of Houston, Texas, has been granted a lease for oil and gas exploration on the more than 400,000 acres of waters in the Mississippi sound off Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties.

The lease, awarded by the State Mineral Lease Commission, provides for the drilling of wells to a depth of not less than 10,000 feet.

Under the terms of the lease contract the company must start preliminary work within 90 days and complete the initial structural report within six months.

If conditions favorable to oil exploration are found, the first well must be started within 60 days.

All structures favorable to oil production must be drilled within five years.

Spring is the logical time to beautify Bay St. Louis. Let's start making plans toward that end.

Hollywood Notes.

RICHARD ARLEN and Andy Devine will be the leads in a series of outdoor stories based on works of Jack London. Peter B. Kyne, Earl Derr Biggers, Courtney Riley Cooper and W. R. Burnett.

Following "The Old Maid" Bette Davis and George Brent will start work in Rachael Fields' "All This and Heaven Too."

Ferdinand Schumann-Heink, the son of the late opera star, has been signed for a part in "Confessions of a Nazi Spy."

Mickey Rooney and his mother have been spending a vacation in New York.

Margaret Sullivan's next picture will be the story of a young English woman and her love for a South American. It will be adapted from Enid Bagnold's novel "Serena Blandish," which was published in 1925.

The recent crash of the air clipper, Cavalier, will be the inspiration for a picture entitled "Thirteen Go Flying."

Walter Pidgeon will be featured with Virginia Bruce in a remake of "Penthouse," which was originally made with Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy. Leo Carrillo has also been assigned a part.

"The Thin Man" team of William Powell and Myrna Loy may be split with Claudette Colbert replacing Miss Loy.

Bonita Granville, who used to play those ugly brat parts, has never been that kind of girl. She is now sixteen years old and is proving herself very attractive in the Nancy Drew series as a girl reporter.

Aileen Pringle of the silent movies is to have a small part in "The Hardys Ride High."

Hollywood is going in for family acting in pictures. "Four Daughters," which has the three real Lane sisters as screen sisters, made such a hit that other studios are taking up the idea. Loretta Young and her three sisters are in the cast of Alexander Graham Bell. Of course there are the Ritz and Marx Brothers who always play together. The Gleasons, too, James, Lucile and their son, Russell, have been recently playing together in the same pictures.

The musical score of "Stage Coach" will include seventeen American songs which were popular in 1883. They include: "Jeanie With The Light Brown Hair" and "Home On The Range."

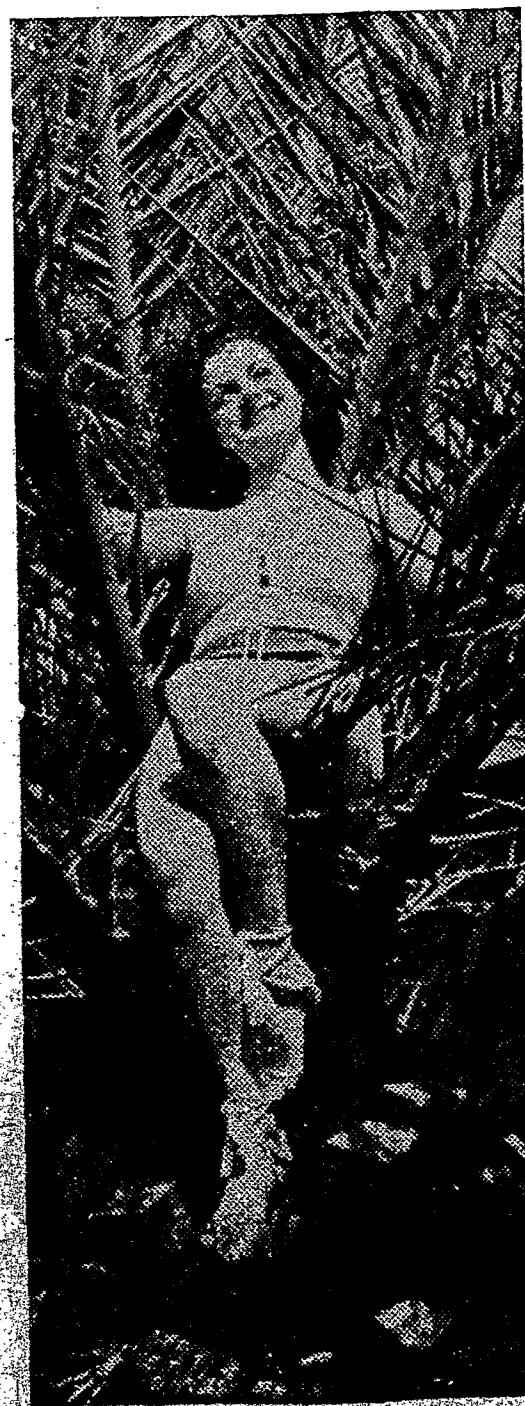

Rita Johnson, who had a secondary part in "Honolulu," stole the show from Eleanor Powell, according to most of the critics, and her studio is beginning to realize that she really can act.

Miliza Korjus lives near the ocean with her husband and her five-year-old daughter. She swims for an hour each day and sings for three hours. She is a very cheerful, wholesome person and although she is considered a glamorous girl by her studio, there is nothing slinky or posy about her.

TOUR of the MONTH

UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI
MISSISSIPPI STATE COLLEGE
MISSISSIPPI STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

A Monthly Release By—
State Highway Department of Mississippi

Southeast Missisippians have the opportunity this month to join hundreds of other Missisippians on a tour of the state's three largest educational institutions to view the vast improvements that have been made in the past three years. The tour has been mapped so as to avoid duplication of highways. Paved roads constitute the greatest part of the tour, which includes many interesting cities and sections.

Mississippi, with more of its boys and girls attending college in proportion to its white population than any state in the union, has made marvelous progress in the past three years expanding and improving its educational facilities.

Since Governor Hugh White took office in January, 1936, more than $3,000,000 has been poured into improvements at the six state-operated institutions of high learning.

* Sundial and Fountain—M.S.C.W.

During that same period other millions have gone into highway construction with the result that our educational institutions have been tied together with an excellent network of paved roads.

This combination of ribbon-like highways and improved facilities have contributed heavily to the marked increase in attendance at the various schools. Enrollments have jumped ed from 4,836 in 1936 to more than 6,000 today.

Paved highways make possible frequent visits by parents to the schools their children attend, as well as provide quick transportation for the students themselves. This month, when students are busiest and college activities are at their peak, paved highways afford an excellent opportunity for us to visit some of our state-operated educational institutions, see for ourselves the changes that have taken place and inspect the surroundings which endow our schools with unmatched historical background.

Our tour this month takes us to The University of Mississippi, Mississippi State College and Mississippi State College for Women, the three largest schools of higher learning.

Ole Miss, as our state university, is known from coast to coast, is served by two splendid paved highways—State 6 and State 7. It occupies a square mile of Oxford, a town of 3,000, steeped in the charm and culture of the Old South which the $1,146,000 university building program has done little to change.

Center of activities on the Oak-shaded campus is the Lyceum, built in 1848. Another landmark is the old chapel now used as student activities building. Nearby is the Confederate Memorial cemetery.

New structures on the campus include six dormitory units, additions to "fraternity row" and "sorority circle," students' union building, faculty dwellings, a concrete stadium, swimming pool and science building. Traveling east from Oxford we push on toward Starkville, site of Mississippi State College. Enroute we pass through Tupelo, where we strike U. S. 45.

Sixty-four miles south of Tupelo we strike Mississippi State college, founded in 1878. It is one of the largest land grant schools in the country and lays claim to the largest dormitory in the world.

Center of campus activity is the Y.M.C.A. A score of buildings and 70 residences are scattered over the huge campus, which also serves as headquarters for the state extension department and the state experiment stations.

* World's Largest "Dorm"—State

Provide among other structures by State's $1,164,000 building program were a new stadium, modern faculty houses, petroleum laboratory, dairy products buildings, dairy barn, new extension building, swimming pool and cold storage plant.

Leaving Starkville we drive 23 miles east on U. S. 82 to Columbus and M.S.C.W., the first state supported institution of higher learning exclusively for women founded in the United States.

The campus occupies approximately 40 acres and is dotted with fine, modern buildings. The more than 1,000 students reside in nine well-equipped dormitories. In the past three years $110,000 has been expended on dormitory facilities and more than $75,000 for repairs to the heating plant and new equipment.

Main dormitory and Old Chapel, which adjoins, are the two oldest buildings on the campus.

As we head toward home we cannot help but agree that the money spent for improvement of our educational institutions and for the paved highways that served them was a good investment.

FIVE HUNDRED PEOPLE ATTEND DEDICATORY EXERCISES AT SCHOOL

City's Valena C. Jones New School Building Finest Of Kind for Colored

On February 10 an enthusiastic crowd of 500 people participated in the dedication of Valena C. Jones new school building. The program was well organized and executed. The musical numbers were rendered by Intermediate and High School departments of Valena C. Jones High School, Methodist and Baptist choirs of Bay St. Louis, Clara Mae Patterson and Doretha Burkes (piano duo) and the Sunshine Choral Club of Biloxi, Miss. The speakers were as follows:

Lucy Robinson welcome address; Mrs. E. Smith, P. T. A. representative; Mrs. Lucy Bell, representing Board of Education; Prof. S. J. Ingram City Supt. of Education; Prof. R. E. Jones; Prof. Frank Brown, Gulfport, Miss.; Dr. Coleman of Portland, Oregon; Prof. Hall Bolden, speaking for principals of Gulf Coast; Louis J. Piernas, a venerable citizen of Bay St. Louis, led the assembly in a rousing cheer in appreciation of splendid work of the Board of Education and city officials. Rev. M. P. Johnson, pastor of Valena C. Jones Church, invocation; Rev. McWilliams, pastor of First Baptist Church, benediction.

The major note struck by these speakers was the challenge to faculty, students and patrons: "You have your building, now, what are you going to do with it?" Prof. Hall Bolden presented a beautiful desk set to add to the school equipment. Contrary to the usual way of equipping negro schools, every piece of furniture and equipment is new. After the program the P. T. A. entertained the speakers and guests with a delicious buffet supper. The principal wishes to thank the institutions who donated use of seats pending arrival of school's seats, the patrons, the faculty and students and speakers who contributed to the success of these exercises.

"ANGELS WITH DIRTY FACES" BRINGS CAGNEY AND O'BRIEN TO A. & G.

No ordinary filmfare, according to those who have seen previews of the picture, is this gripping story of two boys from the slums who, through a strange quirk of fate, grow up at opposite ends of the social order to a conclusion as thrilling and human as ever produced for the screen.

The great cast assembled to play the roles in the film show at once the care which went into the production. Besides Cagney and O'Brien, the six "Dead End" kids play dirty-faced angels of the slums as only they can. Humphrey Bogart and George Bancroft, take roles as crooked lawyer and politician, respectively, while Ann Sheridan provides the love interest with more than ordinary appeal.

Scene after scene of "Angels with Dirty Faces" are of the ilk that stamp themselves unforgettably on the mind—and will provide table talk for Bay St. Louis for weeks to come. The climactic scene which shows Cagney walking "the last mile" is probably one of the greatest of all time in motion picture history. The ending itself, which, for obvious reasons, should remain undisclosed, takes its place with such powerhouses as those of "Public Enemy," "I Am a Fugitive," and "They Won't Forget."

James Cagney's role is made-to-order for him. A breezy tough, cocky ruffian who grows up to be a big-shot gangster is Cagney's forte, and that the role will bring him again to the top spot in male cinema ranks goes without saying.

Pat O'Brien as the soft-spoken yet two-fisted priest, gives an amazing performance, restrained yet powerful enough to balance the strong characterization by Cagney.

The picture was directed by Michael Curtiz, who turned out among other smash hits, "The Adventures of Robin Hood" and "Four Daughters."

Curtiz combines the former's smashing action and the latter's humanity to blend them into this film which is due to startle the cinema-going public. John Wexley and Warren Duff wrote the screen-play from story by Rowland Brown.

E., and filed for record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi, on May 1st, 1923.

Advertised, posted and dated this 6th day of February, 1939.
LUCIEN M. GEX,
Trustee.

$5,000,000 BOND.

The Secretary of state's department had a busy time last week. Five million dollars in highway bonds recently sold by the Mississippi Bond Commission, had to be signed and sealed. This meant that there were 5,000 individual bonds that had to be signed and the great seal of the State of Mississippi impressed thereon. After the secretary of state had signed same, state treasurer Newton Jones had to sign them, after which delivery of the bonds were made by the State Bond Commission to the purchasers of the bonds. In addition, the routine business of the department was extremely heavy and the Secretary of State, as well as all other members of his department, were kept working at full capacity.

300 Juniors Enrolled.
During January, 1939, CCC enrollment, Mississippi had selected and enrolled in the CCC camps 229 white and 71 colored, making a total of 300 juniors. The typical CCC student who was enrolled in the camps during January, 1939, was 19 years of age, was 5 feet, eight inches tall and weighed 145 pounds. He had completed 7½ years of public school. He had little or no previous employment, since leaving school. He had 5 dependants and made a monthly allotment of $22.00 out of his $30.00 cash allowance to aid in the support of these dependants.

40,230 Claims Handled.

In January, the Division of Unemployment Compensation had even more than its usual amount of activity both in the payment of job insurance benefits and in the collection of contributions from employers.

A total of 40,230 claims for compensation of unemployment were received. This is the highest number yet received in one month.

During the month, the Commission also received 8,242 initial claims were taken.

Employers covered by the Unemployment Compensation Law paid $303,556.79 during January, the highest amount ever collected by the Commission in one month.

Following Governor White's remarkable success in getting replies to his letters directed to over 12,000 people in the middle west worth $250,000 or above, inviting them to visit Mississippi, the Capital City, Jackson, through a committee headed by Major W. Calvin Wells, and assisted by Mayor Walter Scott, and Commissioners Hawkins and Taylor, have sent a similar letter to the 3,418 people who replied to the governor, inviting them to visit Jackson when they come to Mississippi.

As of January 1939 a total of 10,895 young people in the state of Mississippi were receiving employment from the National Youth Administration. This total is composed of 4082 young men and 4813 young women. Of these, 5,769 were on student-aid and 5,126 were on work projects. Their total wages in January were approximately $108,563.

Protect Wild Life.

High water stages are forcing wild life from the low land and challenging sportsmen to provide for them food during overflow period.

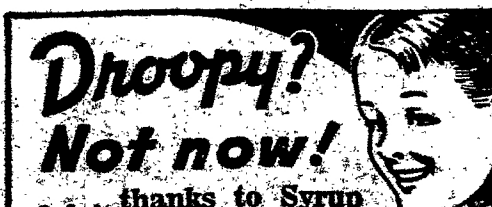

Officials of the State Game and Fish Commission have urged sportsmen throughout the state to aid in protecting these animals by providing shelter in cases where such is possible, and by all means putting out food for them.

Game wardens over the state are keeping in touch with the situation, and aiding in the work wherever it is found needed, and they report that the situation is not yet serious, but with continued rising waters, many animals will be forced to seek higher ground.

Mississippi has 4600 white-tailed deer and about 20 black bears, besides other wild animals that will have to be protected against this high water.

Slash Pine Wind Break.

A thirty year old planted slash pine windbreak has been observed by the State Forest Service agents north of Biloxi, Miss. State Forester Fred B. Merrill says, "The half mile row of trees was planted to protect an orange grove long since gone and replaced by naturally seeded slash pine. Today the planted

The Buckhorn is nationally known and is one of the most unique places of its kind. Featuring Mexican and peccan candy, Mrs. Buckhorn shipped from Bay St. Louis a generous supply of Kenney's famous peccan pralines away by mail.

BARTLETT TOURS IN BAY ST. LOUIS.

Numbering 21 members in a group traveling by Greyhound bus, the Bartlett Tours group spent from the 20 to the 22nd in Bay St. Louis, registered at Hotel Reed, while here for the New Orleans Carnival. They were direct from Cincinnati. They expressed themselves enamored with Bay St. Louis and visited here and vicinity during their stay. After the night parades in New Orleans the special bus would return them to Bay St. Louis.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Vassalli had as their guests for the Bay St. Louis Carnival and week-end, Mr. Julius Burgoyne of Houston, Texas, and Miss Frances Piazza and Miss Margaret Luft, both ladies relatives of Mrs. Vassalli. —Cashier Joe B. Burrow of the Merchants Bank & Trust Company, returned home Wednesday from a three-day stay in Saltillo, Miss., where he visited "back home" with his mother, Mrs. J. B. Burrow, on the family plantation home in the Delta. This was first visit in three years and took advantage of the bank double holiday.

—Mother Evaline former superior Bay St. Louis St. Joseph Academy, came out from New Orleans to attend annual Carnival ball and concert presentation at convent hall Friday evening. This feature of carnival entertainment was inaugurated six seasons ago when Mother Evaline first came to Bay St. Louis in executive capacity.

—Visiting Mrs. Marie Louise Juden and family for the week-end were Mrs. M. S. Morgan, life-long friend, Mrs. F. A. Shaw, Mrs. Juden's sister-in-law, of New Orleans. They came to attend the Bay St. Louis Carnival Ball and court of which Miss Jane Juden was the lovely queen and Mr. D. M. Russell, Jr. king.

As is customary locally, there was no meeting this Wednesday of Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, due to the Mardi Gras festivities in New Orleans. The day previously, which causes the majority of members to attend. However, the regular weekly meetings, a source of so much constructive interest, will be resumed next Wednesday, as usual.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hille and the three fine young sons, motored to New Orleans Tuesday for the Mardi Gras and spent the day in the fullest measure of enjoyment. "Bennie" had the misfortune to have a work truck sideswipe his brand new "Oldsmobile" and slightly damage a front fender, but, with the true spirit of the day, took the incident and result philosophically and concluded it was one of "those things" that will happen on Mardi Gras.

—Mrs. Ray McKay, editor and co-publisher of the Tarpon-Beacon, who frequently visits Bay St. Louis friends, has the sympathy of friends and acquaintances on the occasion of the passing of her mother, Mrs. F. W. Parnell, who died at the Parnell home in Brookhaven, Miss., a few days since. Mrs. McKay was called suddenly to the bedside of her mother about two weeks prior to her passing.

Mayor and Mrs. G. Y. Blaize were agreeably surprised Sunday when a group of friends and relatives arrived from Texas to visit here and to attend the New Orleans Carnival. The party included their daughter-in-law Mrs. Louis J. Blaize and little daughter, Catherine; their son, Mr. G. Y. Blaize, Jr., of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson, of Corsicana, and from New Orleans Miss Carmel Kuebel.

—Mrs. W. A. Reiss, the former Miss Louise Carrere, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edouard C. Carrere, returned to her home at Cleveland, Ohio, Wednesday night. Mrs. Reiss came down to visit under the parental roof and friends and also for the Carnival season, attending a number of the formal balls at New Orleans, including that of Krewe of Mystery, of which she was the lovely and popular queen season before last.

—Bay St. Louis and vicinity was well represented in New Orleans Mardi Gras day, well nigh the majority of population in the Crescent City that day. Reduced railroad rates, bus accommodation and automobile highways made traveling inexpensive and a matter of convenience. New Orleans staged an unusual program of Mardi Gras parades and other features—all well worthy of the exodus from the adjacent territory within the one-hundred to two-hundred mile radius.

FORTHCOMING MARRIAGE OF MISS EMMA LOU ADAMS OF PASS CHRISTIAN.

The marriage of Miss Emma Lou Adams of Pass Christian and Newton D. Goodwin of Gulfport has been set for Saturday, April 15, 7 o'clock at Trinity Church at Pass Christian, with Rev. Warwick Aiken, rector, officiating. Miss Caryl Broome of Pass Christian will be maid of honor, Miss Betty Broome of Pass Christian, Miss Eleanor Stribling and Miss Edith Woodward, Gulfport, and Miss Mary Lou Barbazette, Hammond, La., bridesmaids. Tom Miller of Gulfport will be best man and ushers will be Donald Sutter and William F. Adams, Jr., Pass Christian; Oscar Cassberry, Jr., Walter Stewart, Walter Hollock and Windy Lewis, all of Gulfport. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Adams of Pass Christian. She received her education at the Pass Christian High School, later accepting a position with the Hancock County Bank at Pass Christian. She is a popular member of the Coast's younger set. Mr. Goodwin is the son of Mrs. Aggie Goodwin and the late Mr. W. F. Goodwin of Gulfport. The wedding will claim interest along the Coast as both parties are prominently known.

Waveland Activities

Personal and General News Notes of the Week From Sister City and Vicinity.

MR. Tony Bourgeois accompanied by his children, Mary, Helen Anthony and Katherine went to the city for Mardi Gras.

Miss Olive Curet with her mother Mrs. J. Curet went to Piquette to attend the funeral of her uncle Mr. Willie Curet.

Mrs. Hazel Ladner and daughter Elaine, and Mr. C. O. Dufour were among those going to the city for Carnival.

Mrs. C. K. Herlihy entertained the Thursday afternoon bridge club. Prizes were won by Mrs. Luther Ansley and Mrs. Millard Toulouse.

A wedding of interest to this community was that of Miss Beulah Schouest of Lakeshore and Mr. Fred Peterson of English Lookout, solemnized at St. Claire's church by Rev. Costello at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Much happiness is extended the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Colin C. Levy and little Ann were in the city for several days taking in the festivities.

Miss Edna Turcotte motored with the family to Perkinston to visit her sister "Dick". The visit was an enjoyable one.

Mrs. J. J. Wymer came over with her brother Mr. Leo Wymer of Davenport, Iowa for a visit to the Coast. Mrs. Wymer had not seen her brother for many years and the fond reunion gave them both great happiness.

Young Harold Zimmerman has joined the St. Stanislaus football team and he is out for spring practice.

Snow Carnival Theme Of Bay Saint Louis Carnival Ball and Court

jestic king fitting for royalty. Many complimentary comments heard on all sides were well merited.

For dancing, later in the evening, the Blue Melody Band, of Bay St. Louis, discoursed the latest dance hits, favorites of the day, and dancing was enjoyed until the midnight hour.

Queen Entertains
At about 10:45 Miss Juden, the lovely queen, left the scene, accompanied by the king and their retinue to the home of her mother, Mrs. M. Juden in Court street, where the family home was the scene of a private entertainment to members of the court and a number of friends. Here the home, where exquisite taste prevails throughout and is only equaled by the hospitality and sincerity of the host, refreshment was served and many toasts mingled with expressions of congratulations were voiced. Mrs. Juden assisted in receiving by Miss Ethel Gex.

Cut flowers of golden hue as the predominating color, fresh from the florists' hothouse, were profusely and tastefully placed about the vast reception room and dining room. The serving cakes were topped with the Carnival colors, and as gesture of affection and each cake carried the name of "Jane" in raised letters of confection, the first name of the queen.

King Entertains
The handsome and likable young king, D. M. Russell, Jr., rising young attorney of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, entertained the party after the midnight hour, at Bradley's, securing the private use of the night club across the Bay for the occasion.

Here the king was host. He entertained with equally hospitality and cordial spirit as the entertainment preceding and guests enjoyed refreshment and danced until the wee sma' hours of the morning. It was a delightful affair and formed a fitting climax of an evening of entertainment long to be remembered.

It was fitting that such lovely and popular personalities should be chosen for the honors of Carnival. Miss Juden, the queen, is the daughter of Mrs. Marie Louise Juden and the late Frank Juden. She is a graduate of St. Joseph Academy and at present attending State Teachers' College at Hattiesburg where she is a junior.

The king is Dan M. Russell, son of Judge and Mrs. D. M. Russell, of Gulfport, Judge Russell chancellor for the South Mississippi District. Mr. Russell, Jr., is a graduate of University of Mississippi, and successful young attorney with offices in Bay St. Louis and practicing in all courts.

Kings and Queens of Yesteryear.
This was the sixth Carnival ball and court given in Bay St. Louis, under auspices Mothers' Club of St. Joseph Academy. Kings and queens of other years follow:

1934—Mr. Chas. G. Moreau and Miss Marie E. Bertrand.
1935—Mr. Ed J. Arceneaux and Miss Effie Graham Power (Mrs. Heidt Elliott).

1936—Mr. Anthony Glover and Miss Louise Carrere (Mrs. W. A. Reiss).
1937—Dr. James A. Evans and Miss Marjorie Seuzenne.

1938—Mr. Robert L. Camors and Miss Walter Gex.
Messrs. W. L. Bourgeois and Thomas G. Smith were guardians of the door, occupying the beautiful Igloo, but constructed for the purpose.

Several of our Waveland girls played in the basketball tournament at Bay High this past week. Among them were Elaine Lamer, Betty Carrio, Laura Ruhr and Yvonne Henley.

John "Toody" Carver met with an accident and was forced to have five stitches taken on his face. He is up and about.

Mrs. Alcide Favre is no better and has been removed from the hospital to her sister's home. Mr. Favre has remained at her bedside and her friends here are hoping for her better health.

A little boy has come to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bourgeois. They have several other children but they are rejoicing over the new arrival.

The masquerade given Saturday night by Mr. Villere was an enjoyable affair. The character costumes were nicely gotten up and Raymond Ladner, in the guise of Santa Claus was a hit.

The interesting editorial in last week's Echo regarding a clean up campaign ought to strike home to Wavelanders. The vacant lots on the side streets are strewn with cans and trash of all sorts, dumped out of cars. The beautiful woodland near the beach is heaped with discarded trash and ill smelling refuse all of which bring flies and varmints to other peoples' land. Waveland has to possess to dump their debris on other peoples' land, and if the residents think anything of their old home town this practice will be stopped. Are you listening?

CHEMURGIC LEADER

Wheeler McMillen, president of the National Farm Chemurgic Council and editor of Country Home Magazine, will preside at the opening session of the annual conference of the Chemurgic Conference in Jackson, March 29. During the course of the three-day meeting the approximately 2,000 delegates will discuss subjects related to the theme, "Chemurgic Opportunities of the South." Among the twenty or more nationally known speakers tentatively selected to address the convention are: W. J. Cameron of Ford Motor Company, President Oscar Johnson of the National Cotton Council, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, General Robert E. Wood of Sears, Roebuck and Company, and Dr. Karl C. Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. An additional feature planned for the conference is a day's visit of inspection to the chemurgic industries of Laurel.

BAY BAND IN CARNIVAL PARADE.

Members of Bay St. Louis High School Band, under direction of Prof. Morgan, made a striking appearance in the New Orleans Carnival parade Mardi Gras Day. Some sixty members, they appeared in their handsome new uniforms for the first time, which were ordered and supplied by Breath's Haberdashery, of Bay St. Louis. Their music was fully in keeping with that of the other bands and received frequent applause along the line of march.

—Distinguished visitors to Bay St. Louis during the week, registered at Hotel Reed were Former Governor Hodgins first democratic chief executive in the history of Kansas, accompanied by his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hodgins, the former brother of the governor, also were of the party. After viewing the Mardi Gras at New Orleans, they left Wednesday morning on board the Rotterdam for a cruise of the Caribbean sea. While here several days they visited several places, including the camellia gardens of Mr. and Mrs. James McConnell, Waveland. Their visit and stay here were somewhat accidental. Unable to find hotel accommodations in New Orleans they came out to Bay St. Louis.

FORMER STUDENT SEES EFFECTS OF MAD DICTATOR

Ship Held in English Channel Till Peace Terms Settled

(BAY HIGH STUDENT PRINTS)
While we seniors have been going to school during the past four years, learning, or trying to learn, something that will be of use to us in future years, Lucien Carmichael, who graduated from the eighth grade with us has also been learning things; but not at school.

Lucien has been doing the thing that every red-blooded American boy or girl dreams of doing someday—traveling!
The summer after he finished grade school he went to Honduras and stayed there a year. While there he worked for his father, who controls a large shipping trade in that country. He then returned to the States and stayed here until April 18, 1938 when he joined the S. S. Voulentier a Lykes Brothers freighter.

"Within a few days," says this ambitious boy, "we were in the Atlantic having an uneventful trip until we were 1500 miles out. Then one of the crew became seriously ill. The captain ordered the ship back to Halifax and upon arrival there the patient was moved to a hospital where he died a few hours later, in spite of the valuable effort made to save him."

The ship then proceeded on to its original destination. This delay, however, caused us to catch a portion of the hurricane that did so much damage to the Jersey coast last fall. During this time we experienced three days of decidedly dangerous and unpleasant weather.

"After this the ship experienced no unusual adventure until it reached the English channel. When we arrived at the English Channel the political disturbance in Europe had reached its heights and the whole French fleet was lined up as if in battle array in the North Sea, while the English fleet was likewise maneuvering in full force. Our ship was detained here and we were not allowed to enter or leave the country until talk of peace was a fact.

"After this international turmoil was settled we were allowed to go on to Hamburg, which was our destination. While going up the Elbe river to Hamburg we changed pilots eight times in the course of eighty miles. This being done because no pilot is allowed to learn more than ten miles of the river. I suppose

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to again thank the many and to voice my appreciation of the splendid co-operation received on the occasion of the Bay St. Louis Carnival Ball presentation, Friday, February 17. Without the hearty and thorough assistance of those who worked with me it would have been impossible to have staged the tableau and ball in the setting which the public generously gave wide acclaim and enthusiastic approval. It was a pleasure to be associated with my co-workers and others and I voice this in grateful acknowledgment.

Respectfully,
MRS. M. JUDEN,
Chairman Decoration Committee.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

EVERY month has its holiday, its day for celebration, and every day can have a special dish each offering a wealth of ideas and possibilities for a good meal.

Chicken a la King

½ cup finely chopped mushrooms
¼ cup shortening
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ cup green pepper finely chopped

½ cup stuffed olives finely chopped
2 cups left-over chicken, diced

this eliminates any pilot, who should turn spy in time of war, from being of any service to Germany's enemy, as far as the river is concerned.

Reaching Hamburg, we found the city very tense as it was the day of the signing of the Munich Pact and all of us uncertain Americans can rest assured that German citizens dreaded war as much as we did. "While in Hamburg we did something that all Americans are noted for doing.

That something was the seeking of entertainment. In the course of time we came upon a night club which was on one of the back streets of the city. If you think for one minute that our night clubs are bad you should have seen this "Greasy Spoon." Being just a group of men seeking pleasure, we entered this club of "Greasy Spoon," whichever you may choose to call it, just in time to see the floor show which was incidentally the most novel thing I have ever seen. The dance floor had been cleared except for a lone donkey who was kicking and braying all over the place. All of the brave young Germans were called up to test their skill by trying to stay on the back of this ferocious creature. The hero with this ability was given a cash prize which amounted to about two dollars in our money.

"After about a week in Germany we visited other parts of Europe and returned to the shores of the good old United States feeling ready and able to go again.
